

Figure S1. Scanning micrographs of Anochetus shohki worker (NCUESIL002627-NCUESIL002630). (A) full-face view; (B) head in lateral view; (C) antenna; (D) mandible in ventral view; (E) labrum; (F) maxilla and labium; (G) petiole in front view; (H) petiole in lateral view; (I) apical teeth of mandible; (J) mesosoma in lateral view; (K) mesosoma in lateral view; (L) mesosoma in dorsal view; (M) gaster in dorsal view; (N) detail of stridulitrum; (O) abdominal tergite III in mesal view shows the lack of a plectrum. A3–4 abdominal segments. White arrows indicate the different sculpture patterns of the mesopleural anepisterum, black arrow indicates the stridulitum.

Figure S2. Scanning micrographs of Anochetus shohki queen (NCUESIL002631-NCUESIL002632). (A) full-face view; (B) head in lateral view; (C) antenna; (D) mandible in ventral view; (E) mesosoma in dorsal view; (F) mesosoma in lateral view; (G) gaster in lateral view; (H) petiole in dorsal view; (I) petiole in lateral view; (J) petiole in front view.